

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A window opening and closing assembly wherein a rack gear is operatively driven by a pinion gear which is connected to a handle, the arrangement being one wherein there is a pin mounted on one side of the pinion gear and which must move past a resilient element to reach the fully open and fully closed positions. The resilient element provides a firm feel to the handle. A replaceable housing member can have different configurations.